ARTS UNDERGRADUATE PRESIDENCY GOES TO N. JOHNSTON BY LARGE MAJORITY

Successful Candidate Polls Large Vote Obtaining Plurality Over Two Opponents

LATEST COUNCIL MEMBER FAVORS AMENDMENTS

Remaining Officers will be Chosen Next Fall

The election of a President for the Arts Undergraduate Society took place yesterday between the hours of nine and five o'clock. The results were as follows:

Norman D. Johnston .....	110
Elliott H. Scott .....	41
Ben. McDiarmid .....	26

Plurality for Johnston ... 43

The President was the only officer voted on. The remainder of the executive are elected in the fall; one officer being chosen from each of the three remaining years. A special meeting of the Undergrad. Society will be held today at one o'clock at which the new president will be inaugurated, and will make a short address.

Mr. Johnston wished the Daily to thank the undergraduates in Arts for the very high honor they had done him. He promised to do everything within his power to maintain the high level of usefulness which the executive had this year established for itself.

On being further questioned as to his policies he expressed himself as approving of the proposed amendments to the Council's constitution. That by Mr. Hugesson regarding the personelle of the faculty representatives he expected to prove one of the most valuable changes ever suggested. The suggestion that the 'Daily' editor report on Council meetings was a plan in which he could see nothing but good. "Any scheme," he said, "which aims to bring into closer touch the student body and the Council, is one which should receive hearty support. The Council should welcome publicity."

The president-elect was educated before coming to McGill, at the Westmount Academy and at Shortell's Academy. After matriculating, he spent a year in Europe, where he travelled widely, as he has also done in America. When at Westmount Academy he captained the football team but since coming to McGill basketball marks the extent of his athletic record.

His college year has been one of prominence, and the very large plurality by which he was elected indicates the esteem in which he is held, and great number of friends which he has made. It had been predicted that the contest in Arts would be a very close one, and no one would have forecast such a land slide.

The total number of votes cast in Arts may not indicate such a representative poll as that cast in Science, but this is in part explained by the fact that many of students in Arts are partials, especially those attending the Theological Colleges. These do not vote for the President of the Undergrad. Society. Whether or not they will vote for the Council representative is not yet known.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

There will be a meeting of the Arts Undergraduate Society today, Friday, March 14th, at one o'clock. The inauguration of the new President of the Society, Mr. Norman Johnston, will take place.

Will the two gentlemen who have neglected to pay for their tickets to the Arts Dinner kindly settle up with the janitor of the Arts Bldg. or the treasurer of the Society as soon as possible.

THE MARITIME CLUB.

There will be a most important meeting of the Executive of the Maritime Club this evening at Strathcona Hall at 7 o'clock sharp. Those gentlemen who canvassed their respective years in the interests of the above organization earlier in the season are also earnestly requested to attend. J. Fred Taylor, Secy.

The Students' Council is facing a crisis. Today's, editorial will throw some light on the subject.

OXFORD EIGHT DEFEATS CAMBRIDGE IN SENSATIONAL FINISH

English Varsity Honors go to Dark Blue Oarsmen

(By special arrangement.)

London, March 13.—Coming from behind on a sensational spurt in the final hundred yards of the course, the Oxford University eight defeated Cambridge today, Thursday, in one of the most closely-contested races ever seen between these two famous crews. The sudden illness of Pamison and Rogers, number three and number six respectively of the Cambridge crew, necessitated changes in the light blue boat which greatly weakened the chances of the Cantab oarsmen. This added to the fact that the Oxonians averaged four pounds heavier than their opponents, made them favorites in the betting; although Cambridge had been making fast time in the trials.

Cambridge won the toss for choice of stations and thus had the advantage, as the two turns in the course militate greatly against the crew having the outer course. The starting pistol was fired at four-forty and the race was on. Cambridge took the lead at the start and held it; keeping about half a length ahead until Barnes Bridge was reached. At this point, urged on by the shouts of the

ELECTIONS IN MEDICINE AFTER STUDENTS SOC. MEETING

The Constitution Amendment Cause of Deferment

Some comment has been made, in other faculties in regard to the elections for the Medical Society.

Inquiries were made yesterday and it was found that the present officials have decided not to hold the elections until the meeting of the Council which comes off on Wednesday morning next.

Their reasons were, that it was thought wise to wait and see if the proposed amendment, to change the personnel of the Council, went through, as this will undoubtedly exercise a great power in the choice of President and Representative.

cox, stroke Horsfall of the Oxford crew increased his stroke to 38 and the dark blue shell crept up past the nose of the Cambridge boat and amid the shouting of the crowd, crossed the line, winner by a quarter length.

This is the fifth successive year in which the honors have been won by Oxford, Cambridge having been victorious the three preceding years. Two Australian Rhodes scholars, Ward and Beaubien, occupied positions in the Oxford shell.

The Financial Crisis

Although it does not seem to be generally realized, the affairs of the undergraduate body of McGill have reached a financial crisis. The Students' Society, as represented by the Students' Council, has contracted a heavy debt and like other debts, this must be paid. Last year there was a deficit of some three thousand dollars, and judging from present indications, there is every likelihood that this year's financial statement will show a deficit of similar proportions. In other words, the undergraduates of this University are heavily in debt. This is an absolutely untenable position, and some definite and concerted action must be taken immediately with a view to paying this in full.

As things are at present the undergraduates of McGill constitute a self-governing and self-supporting body. The direction of our athletic teams, our clubs, our Union and our daily paper is in the hands of undergraduates appointed either directly or indirectly by the student body. In order to support these activities, each undergraduate pays a fee which is in the nature of a tax, and like a tax the payment of it is compulsory.

Thus, we are in the same position in this respect as any self-governing nation or community.

However, this has not always been the case. The present measure of autonomy which we enjoy was only obtained after a long and bitter struggle on the part of the students, and the debt now hanging over us is a menace to this privilege of self-government. Unless we take immediate steps towards meeting this deficit, those who opposed the granting of student autonomy will return to the attack, the University authorities will step in, the Students' Council will be abolished and the direction of undergraduate activities will fall into other hands. If this happens, what will be the result? Financial support will be withdrawn from all major athletic clubs and even these will all die out through lack of encouragement. Athletics at McGill will subside into their former lethargic condition when championship trophies were conspicuous by their absence. Other student organizations will receive very little support and the present McGill spirit which has evidenced itself during the past two years will die out completely.

It would be unnecessary to point out the undesirability of such a state of affairs, and it is to be hoped that at the meeting of the Students' Society on Wednesday, some radical and unanimous action will be taken to prevent its future existence. This can only be done by either voting money direct or by incorporating the Students' Society and borrowing sufficient money to pay the debt. If the latter method were adopted the money could be gradually repaid by instituting certain economies in the expenditure of the Council's revenue, or by raising the Universal Fee sufficiently to meet the extra demand which would be placed upon it through the yearly payments on the loan.

That this plan is feasible is being proved now at Queens where the A. M. S., which corresponds to our Students' Council, borrowed fourteen thousand dollars for the erection of a gymnasium, and is now paying it off in yearly instalments. The money was borrowed on the security of the gymnasium, but as we, at McGill, have no property or other assets on which money might be borrowed, it might not be such an easy matter to obtain the necessary money here. However, it is not improbable that certain of our graduates, if shown that they could be certain of repayment, would advance the money without hesitation. Should this be found impossible there would be only one way of meeting the difficulty. The undergraduates would have to pass a resolution taxing their caution money to the extent of two or three dollars, or else contribute the same amount directly.

But as pointed out above, any action taken must be immediate and concerted in order to effectively meet the situation. The credit of the Student's Council in the City is even now seriously threatened, and, unless a large sum of money is secured in some way, it will become a negative quantity. It is to be hoped that once the facts of the case are known, every undergraduate will realize the seriousness of the situation and will not, for the consideration of a small monetary sacrifice, oppose any adequate measure which may be proposed for extricating the student body from its present predicament.

Every student has shared in the benefits derived from the expenditure of the money which he will be called upon to pay, and even if not actuated by a loyalty to his Alma Mater, should consider himself individually liable for his share of the debt.

It is unfortunate that more interest has not been evidenced by the students of the University in the Undergraduate Orchestra. This organization held its final concert of the year on Wednesday evening at the Royal Victoria College. Although the concert was well-advertised, both in the columns of the "Daily" and by the usual sign-boards about the college grounds, a mere handful of people were present. No other reason can be given for this than that there is a lack of interest among the students where the Orchestra is concerned. Certainly, it is not because the quality of the music is anything but excellent, as the applause with which all the efforts of the Orchestra were greeted will testify. It is to be hoped that next year will see a revival of interest in this, McGill's premier musical organization.

So far only two nominations for the Executive of the Union Hall have been received. For the position of President, Pud. Argue, Med. Paisley, Science '14, popular half-back on the championship Rugby team, has been nominated for the vice-presidency.

The President of the Union, by virtue of his office, becomes a member of the Students' Council. The vice-president is chairman of the house committee and has charge of the regular business of the Union.

No nominations have been received for the position of Secretary. All nominations must be handed in by next Wednesday.

Minimizing Politics.

At Cornell and several other universities, all of the class elections are held on the same day, thus finishing up a semester's politics all at once. Such a system would seem to have many points of superiority over the system we use here, where the four or more various elections are scattered over a period of one month or more, keeping the class politicians, the Illinois Union, and the University community in general stirred up during that whole period.

It is possible, too, that holding all the elections on the same day might eliminate some of the politics with which our present elections are over-run. The interests of the students would be scattered over a large number of candidates, and thus the various offices would lose something of their importance, and politics would cut less of a figure. Even if such a change would not actually eliminate any of the politics, it would at least have the virtue of concentrating it all in one definite period and getting rid of it as soon as possible. Anything which would tend to minimize the importance of politics, would be a benefit to the University.—Daily Illini.

PROMINENT CANDIDATES IN FIELD FOR RHODES HONORS AWARD

Four McGill Students Apply
for B.C. Scholarship

It has been learned on good authority that four McGill men will apply for the British Columbia Rhodes Scholarship. The committee which is composed of Chief Justice Hunter, Dr. Robinson, Supt. of Education, Mr. S. B. Paul, Victoria High School, Mr. Geo. A. Robinson, Principal of McGill College of British Columbia and one other gentleman, has the names and qualifications of the candidates under consideration and the award will be made shortly. So far it has been impossible to secure the names of all the candidates but a definite announcement will probably be made in the near future.

However, the names of two prominent undergraduates of the university and two graduates have been mentioned in this connection, and it is not unlikely that one of these will be the choice of the committee to represent British Columbia at Oxford next year. Mr. R. Holland and Mr. T. R. L. McInnis, the two McGill graduates mentioned as possibilities for the honor, both took a prominent part in undergraduate affairs while at the University. The former was best known as a debater here and has also established an enviable reputation as an athlete in a certain turbulent Central American republic while the latter is a long-distance champion and has been well-known to generations of freshmen at McGill.

The names of the two undergraduate contestants are withheld for the present but will soon be definitely announced.

NEXT YEAR'S PRESIDENT IS ELECTED AT FRENCH CLUB MEETING

Mlle Greterin gave a Most Interesting Address at a Large Meeting

The annual meeting of the French Club took place last night in Strathcona Hall. About thirty men sat down to the supper which was served as usual by Mr. Shew.

At 7:15, Mr. Griffith, the President, called the meeting to order, and in a few well chosen words introduced Mlle. Greterin, the popular R. V. C. lecturer. On rising, she was greeted by a storm of applause. She chose as her subject, Life in Indo-China, where she passed her childhood. The first thing that a stranger notes in that country is the queer language spoken by the Annamite people which is tuned at a very high pitch. She then referred to the customs of the inhabitants of Indo-China. When you want to do a man a great honour, you must address him as your grandfather, and when you want to insult a man you have to call him a young man. The women hold parties as they do on this continent. The bill of fare of their luncheons is made up of a small plate of meat and a bowl of rice which may contain as much as a pound of this food. After the meal is over they take their pipes, which they carry in their hair, and have a smoke. Miss Greterin then dwelt on the marriage ceremonies in Indo-China. With the idea of probably saving moving expenses, the young couples wear on the day of the solemnization of their matrimony all the clothes they possess. This has the remarkable effect that poor people often wear heavily padded underclothing so as to look prosperous.

The Annamites believe in the immortality of the soul and as a result they often look forward to death with keen anticipation. As a result when they are still young they receive what they will eventually use as coffins, but which in the meantime they use as beds or sideboards. The Annamites have all kinds of tricks to fool the evil spirits; on a wedding day they all cry at a certain moment for instance, so as to stop the spirits from doing them any harm.

Miss Greterin's address was given in her usual fluent manner, and was warmly applauded.

After having thanked Miss Greterin for her admirable talk, Mr. Griffith called for nominations for the position of Hon. President for the Session 1913-14. Mr. du Roure was elected by acclamation, and in a few well-chosen words thanked the Club for the honor they had conferred upon him. He pointed out the success of the Club under the able guidance of Mr. Harold Griffith, and expressed the opinion that still greater things could be looked for. Mr. Pedriault was the unanimous choice for the Hon. Vice-Presidency of the club.

REFRESHMENTS MISSING AND CLUB WITHOUT SUPPER

Historical Society Fed the Wrong People Last Night

There were some very hungry and disappointed people in the Engineering Building last night about half past nine; while some others were feeling very satisfied and most pleased with themselves.

The Historical Club was holding its annual meeting in the Engineering Building, and in order to celebrate the occasion in a fitting manner, the executive of the Club had gone to some expense and trouble to provide refreshments, nicely prepared sandwiches, cake and soft drinks.

Unfortunately, the heads of the Historical Club had brought these provisions into the building and had hidden them in the common room. The executive who had taken it upon themselves to provide the feast automatically went out of office last night, for if they had not done so it is practically certain that they would have had to resign, the members of the Club having plenty of cause for being sore, as we will proceed to explain. After the regular business of the meeting had been concluded, the retiring President announced that refreshments would be served if the members would only wait a few minutes. They waited five, ten and fifteen minutes, and then the president and the executive returned, and they had to announce that they, like Mother Hubbard, had found that the cupboard was bare.

It seems that the executive had omitted to place any guard over the eatables and while the meeting was going on some students had discovered the 'cache' and helped themselves. All the Historical Club representatives were able to find was the empty tins in which they had stored the refreshments. The Daily reporter at once decided to see if he could unravel the mystery and left the Historical Club room. His last impression of the meeting being that members of the Club were threatening to compel the executive to take them down to the 'ham and', as they did not wish to miss their eats.

The Daily's cub reporter, after some 'Picklock Holes' stunts discovered that architectural students who had been working in the drifting room, were the culprits; but he enjoyed the joke too much to divulge any names.

HOCKEY CLUB EXECUTIVE MAY INCREASE SALE OF RINK TICKETS

Will Attempt to Place Campus Surface on Paying Basis

It is understood that at the general meeting of the Students Society next Wednesday the question of selling tickets for the Campus rink to outsiders will be brought up in connection with the report of the Hockey Club. Ever since the rink was started some years ago it has been run at a small loss and it is thought that if more tickets are sold it can be made to pay. At Toronto the campus rinks are run on this principle and are said to pay large profits. However, because of the fact that no taxes are paid on the property here it is not known whether or not the law allows that admission be charged to any persons other than undergraduates. The Football Club is allowed to charge admission to the game on the campus and it is not definitely known if any legal distinction exists in this connection. The matter is being investigated and definite information will be obtained before Wednesday.

The Hockey Club executive have come to the decision that something must be done to increase the club's revenue and the above plan is thought to be the most feasible. At present they are under heavy expense for the renting of the Arena, travelling expenses and player's outfits, without having a revenue in proportion. Thus, if the campus rink can be made to pay, the club would be enabled to make a better financial showing than it has for the past two years.

To-day's Editorial will interest you. Read it. You may be surprised.

Princeton is to have a University Club for which plans are now being made. The home of the new Club will be a large building on the campus. The membership is to be extended to all graduates, faculty members and undergraduates.

One of the largest editorials which has ever appeared in the Brown Herald was one which they published lately on the subject of their new dining hall. Their meals seem to cause them a great deal of interest down at Brown.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The Volunteer Band has received a very pleasing letter from Mr. Jos. A. Mowatt, of Honan, China. Mr. Mowatt is one of the class of Arts, '01, and was very prominent on the rugby team when an undergraduate here. He writes in answer to a letter sent from the "Band" and expresses a wish that they could all go to China in a body. They are especially in need of some A.I. Medical men and high-class preachers. He mentions Mr. Hattie, of Science '10, who went to Honan about a year ago, and says that he is making specially good progress learning the language, and has become very popular with his fellow-workers.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AT MEETING OF HISTORICAL CLUB

Historians Hear Interesting Papers but to Sup

Mr. P. Clarke gave a very interesting and instructive paper on Hudson Bay. After giving a summary of the general topography of the region he outlined the early history of the Bay. It is not known just who discovered Hudson Bay. The first that was known is that it appeared on Cabot's map. After that a number of expeditions were sent out, including those of Frobisher and Davis. The most famous man, however, connected with the discovery of Hudson Bay is that romantic character, Hendrick Hudson. After discovering the Hudson River, he made another voyage, this time to the Hudson Bay. He entered the straits in the year 1610, and after a difficult passage through the ice, he succeeded in reaching the open waters of the Bay. But his troubles were by no means ended. Owing to some unknown reason, his crew mutinied, and he and his son were set adrift in an open boat. After this there were many expeditions, but none succeeded in disproving the fact that there was no North West Passage to China by way of Hudson Bay.

Foxland was named after Fox, while James' name was perpetuated in James Bay. James was, however, highly disgusted with the country, and told many fabulous stories on his return to England.

After James', the next expedition that entered the Bay was probably the most famous, and at the same time the most fruitful of any after the ill-fated voyage of Hudson. This expedition was the one under Prince Rupert and occurred in 1669. Instead of spending their time in a fruitless endeavor to discover the N.W. passage, they started to build a fort and traded with the Indians. Thus started the Hudson Bay Co., which exists at the present time. Since then numerous expeditions have been sent to examine Hudson Bay. The most recent one were sent by the Canadian Government.

The chief economic resources of Hudson Bay are the fisheries. It is also going to be very important in the future as a trade route from the North West of Canada to Liverpool. The distance will be from 500 to 1000 miles shorter than by way of Montreal. All the success, however, of this route depends on the length of time the passage can be kept free from ice. This is not yet known but probably will be by November 1st.

Mr. Nicholson was now called upon to give his paper on the affair of Nutha Sound. This affair, he said, had almost caused a war, merely through the misinterpretation of a few words. Spain discovered this region, but it was first developed by Great Britain. The dispute was as to which nation had chief right to the territory. The ships that first established a trading post there came from China. They belonged to the British East India Co. The post had been in existence for about two years and was doing a flourishing business when the Spaniards arrived. The Spaniards claimed the whole coast, and obtained a Papal Bull to support their argument. They also started in to prepare for war. Spain called upon her ally, France, and for a time it looked as if all Europe would be involved in a bloody war. But the British Ambassador at Madrid had been very busy and he managed, to the great astonishment of everybody, to get a treaty signed, which partially settled the matter.

This treaty was very favorable to the third paper was on the capture of Quebec by Kirk, and was given by Mr. Nicolls. It was during the time when Champlain was trying to colonize Canada, and was having a very hard time. The little colony at Quebec was reduced almost to starvation, when six ships were sent from France to relieve it. At the same time three armed English ships set sail to conquer Canada. The little colony now waited in suspense expecting either friend or foe to come into view. One fine day the English arrived. Resistance was impossible.

SECRETARY OF LIT REPLIES TO MR. MCCONNELL'S LETTER

Letter Published To-day Criticizes Aloofness of Other Debating Societies at McGill

Editor of the McGill Daily:
Dear Sir:

With your permission I should like to use your columns for the purpose of discussing the communication you published today, regarding the Literary Society. At the outset I am quite prepared to admit that Mr. McConnell has cause when he feels dissatisfied with the season just closing. But I take issue with him in some of his conclusions. Permit me, in my official capacity, to say that the condition of the 'Lit' is occupying the attention of the executive and that they intend to offer several suggestions at the Annual meeting, soon to take place. I shall here mention but one of the fundamental causes of non-support. The college of which Mr. McConnell is a member, is a member of another debating league; holds its own meetings, and displays a general spirit of aloofness from the proceedings of the 'Lit.' The men who are to make a business of oratory would naturally be expected to give to their University Literary Society the most active support. This they do not do, and until it is given the Society can never reach the highest point of efficiency.

If Mr. McConnell will attend the annual meeting of the society he will have full opportunity for a more thorough and complete discussion of the 'Lit's' position than is possible here. Every member of the present executive will gladly welcome suggestions of any kind conducive to a better Lit.

Yours very truly,
HUGH B. GRIFFITH,
Secretary of Literary and Debating Society.

WELL KNOWN SERVANT OF COLLEGE MAY RECEIVE PENSION

"Corkey" has been Connected with McGill for a Score of Years

The case of Wm. Gentleman—Corkey—was laid before the Students' Council last evening. It seems that Corkey's usefulness to the several athletic clubs for which he works has become greatly lessened in the last two or three years, owing to his being unable to carry out his duties on account of old age.

Corkey has been connected with the football, hockey, track and tennis clubs at McGill University, as general factotum, for the last twenty years.

Wm. Gentleman before he came to McGill was a champion long distance runner, and at one time held the walking championship of England. In all the years that he has been at McGill, Corkey has worked hard to perform his duties to the best of his ability. It has been only in the last two seasons that he has been unable to do all the work that he is supposed to do.

The way the matter stands at present it appears that Corkey's services will either have to be dispensed with altogether or the Council or University authorities will have to put him on a pension and keep him around the College to do little odd jobs.

To unconditionally dismiss such an old and tried servant of the University, and one whose services are remembered by two generations of college athletes, seems to be somewhat of a pity. There are many graduates and undergraduates who Wm. Gentleman had been dismissed by the Students' Council, because he would be sincerely sorry to hear that had grown too old for his usual duties.

CANADIAN CLUB EXECUTIVE.
There will be a meeting of the executive of the McGill Canadian Club today at 11 a.m. sharp. The business under discussion will be election of officers and will be concluded well within ten minutes. The following men are asked to be present: Messrs Bieler, Beatty, Bruneau, Struthers and Walsh. The meeting will take place in the smoking room of the Arts Building.

We are at the parting of the ways. The decision is up to you. Read the Editorial on page two.

as they had no food or gunpowder, and so Champlain had to surrender. He and all his men were taken to England, but were soon released.

After the papers were read the club proceeded to the election of officers, and new members. The election resulted in the following:

Hon. Pres.—Prof. Foyer
Pres.—H. Beatty
Vice-Pres.—W. Hyde
Secretary—B. Findlay.
Treasurer—Geo. Dewey
Committee—Prof. Ludlow and Jno. Bieler.

The question of new members was brought up and it was decided that of the nine places to be filled, six men should be elected this year, and the remaining three in the fall. The six men elected were: Arthur Anglin, C. Holden, R. Buchanan, J. MacKeown, W. Loveny, P. Fisher.

LONG LIST OF ENTRIES FOR ANNUAL POOL CONTEST

Handicaps will be Posted To-day or To-morrow

The entry list for the Pool Tournament was closed last night. A large number of men have signed up for the competition and some very close contests are expected to be pulled off.

The following have entered:—R. C. Hastings, L. S. McDonald, C. A. Doran, F. S. Baird, E. R. Thompson, E. D. McIntosh, G. C. Jones, G. W. Willicroft, A. L. Delahey, R. R. Duffy, L. Rainboth, E. Atkins, B. McDiarmid, Lee Smith, P. R. Smythe, O. E. Farley, A. H. Mann, A. H. Garland, W. H. Morris, A. B. Hyndman, F. Johnson, S. L. R. Sadler, W. H. Kelly, F. P. Connors, E. Fitzgerald, Samuel Hoams, C. S. McDougall and P. W. DeGarun.

The handicaps will probably be posted some time during today and the games can be started as soon as these are announced and the results of the drawing are posted. Absolutely no one will be allowed to start in the tournament until he has paid his fee. "Skeezicks" is particularly emphatic upon this last point so all those who wish to be allowed to begin ought to see that they have their fee ready.

GRADUATE IN FAR EAST RAPIDLY RISING TO PROMINENCE

Peter Hing, Law '11 Holds Important Public Office

We are continually hearing news from all parts of the world to the effect that McGill Graduates have been making an enviable reputation for themselves. The latest news arrived from China where Mr. Peter Hing, a graduate from the class of Law '11 has been gaining prominence.

Mr. Hing, was chairman at the mass-meeting which John R. Mott addressed at Canton, during his tour of the Orient. As this was a very important affair at which hundreds of people were present, it shows that our graduate is highly esteemed in his native land.

Since China became a Republic many young men have come to the front in Public Life, but none more so than Mr. Peter Hing. Mr. Hing is now a Chief Justice in one of the Southern provinces in China and is much respected by his fellow citizens. While at McGill Mr. Hing was a most brilliant student and there are still some undergraduates at the University who remember very well the popular foreigner in Law '11.
